MESSSENGER SAVES RANSOM

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

THERE is a thrilling, bloody and desperate picture-show at the Saenger theater Monday and Tuesday that every American citizen should be compelled to see. It isn't all nice; but all of it is true. And I'll lay you odds it is the finest motion picture drama that will be produced in 1934—Wallace Berry in "Viva Villa!"

Big Time Kidnap Rings Are Broken Up by U.S. Agents

Luer Abduction Cleared Up Rapidly—Bremer Case Hard One

TWO STILL SOUGHT

Barker and Karpis Objects to Nation-Wide Police Dragnet

This is the fifth of six absorbing stories telling how bullet, rope, and prison cell have ended the careers of notorious bandits of the past and relating detailed descriptions of the "most wanted" criminals of today.

By WILLIS THORNTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

In the wave of kidnapping that swept the country during the last few months, the U. S. Department of Justice acquitted itself splendidly. Speedily it put behind the bars most of the principals in such cases as those of Mary McElroy and Nell Donnelly in Kansas City, Peggy McMahon in Massachusetts, Jackie Thompson in Detroit, Adolphus Busch in St. Louis, August Luer in Alton, Ill., Benjamin P. Bowser in Denver, Gordon H. Sawyer in Tucson, and Charles L. Michel in Oklahoma.

But to make this record even more sweeping, and prove very definitely that there is nothing in kidnapping but discovery and prison, federal sleuths would like to round up at least five more "left-overs" from these and other kidnappings.

They are: Alvin Karpis and Doc Barker, believed to have been concerned in the Bremer kidnapping case and also suspected of having operated with Clyde Barrow's gang and John Dillinger's.

Three also remain of those suspected in the Luer kidnapping case: Walter O'Malley, Lloyd Doyle and Mrs. G. M. Chase.

These five will be welcome callers at the Department of Justice.

Brutal to Aged Banker

Six of the Luer kidnap gang are already in jail. But the case was so repulsive that the government is anxious to round up the rest.

August Luer, a feeble 77-year-old banker of Alton, Ill. The kidnappers entered his home, roughly handled both the aged man and his wife, and bundled him off in an auto.

In a foul and cramped basement they kept him confined for nearly a week—then they blindfolded him and released him on an open road. The kidnappers had been unable to make a safe contact to collect the $100,000 ransom they had demanded.

Federal forces worked unceasingly on the case, and eventually were aided with local authorities.

Luer identified the picture of a burglar and thug, "The Dickie Kid," as one of the kidnappers.

Police went out and found him, and trapped him into admission that led to uncovering of the whole affair.

Ringleader Still Free

Though five men and a woman are now serving from five to 20 years for this cowardly crime, one of the suspected ringleaders in the plot is still at large. He is Walter Holland, known also as Walter or "Irish" O'Malley, burglar and hijacker.

With him is sought Lloyd "Blackie" Doyle, a man with no very black previous record, but who now stands indicted in the Luer case. The third is a woman, Mrs. George M. Chase, who has gone by the various names of Vivian Davis, Vivian Chase, Alice White, Vivian McDowell, Alice Walte, and Grace Hickey.

Mrs. Chase, though she, too, has no conviction behind her, is badly wanted to round out the complete mop-up of the Luer case.

Bremer Case Baffling

St. Paul's Bremer kidnapping case was a hard nut to crack. For 22 days thugs held concealed Edward G. Bremer, 37-year-old bank president, son of a prominent brewer, who is a friend of the president himself.

A gang of 10 or 12 men descended on Bremer just after he had taken his 8:30-a.m. train to school one morning, beat him about the head, and carried him off.

This time the abductors carried on their negotiations successfully, and collected $200,000 in unmarked bills. They then released Bremer at Roches-

This is the story of Francisco (Pancho) Villa, bandit, murderer, patriot—who despite his 40-odd wives had a love for his country that put him at the head of great armies and freed Mexico from the tyrant.

There is blood and battle, scandal and humor, in this picture. Many of the episodes put on the screen have been told in feature articles printed in this newspaper within the last year—but the thing that makes this story of Pancho Villa's life unforgettable is the theme of his friendship for the saintly President Madero, who to me always has seemed to be Mexico's Lincoln.

X X X

When the Spaniards withdrew from Mexico they left behind them a feudal aristocracy which was as tyrannical as old Spain, despite Mexico's claim to being a republic.

The dictator, Porfirio Diaz, used federal troops to re-elect himself president time and again, holding the land in the name of the great nobles and denying the people ownership of their farms.

Villa's own father was whipped to death by the dictator's men while protesting the confiscation of his land. Villa, grown up to be a man, turned himself to wipe out this injury.

At the height of Villa's fame as a bandit, Madero, statesman and scholar, sent for him to act as the revolution's field general.

They conquered Mexico, overthrew Diaz, and put Madero in the palace. Villa's last injunction to Madero's "friends" who went with him to the capital city was: "I put the little fellow in your hands. See that nothing happens to him, or—"

X X X

The political intrigues, who wished to keep Madero from giving the reins back their land assassinated Madero. Villa was in an El Paso barron when he got the news.

He borrowed $7 from a newspaper reporter, got four friends, and started for Mexico City.

Three months later he marched into the capital city at the head of 60,000 troops.

He wreaked vengeance on the slayers of Madero.

He gave the peasants back their land.

He resigned the presidency to more skillful hands, because, "I'd only be a good president as a horse."

X X X

Pancho Villa—as Mexico sees him—that's Wallace Berry's unforgettable portrayal at the Saenger theater.

Sometimes bloody and cruel, sometimes tender as a child, and altogether crude and unpolished.

But he freed Mexico.

He is Mexico's hero forever.

And I don't know but what Pancho Villa is just as good as any other nation's hero.

You look sidewise at some of our own American heroes, and you find that most of them were just plain English farmers inspired by the torch of human liberty.

Europeans never did forgive George Washington for being a "yokel" and a "provincial countryman."

Oked. But there was work to be done. And we had a man to do it.

Villa was twice a man. When his work was done he had sense enough to go home.

The German people admire President Roosevelt because he is like Hitler and Mussolini, a man who does things—Baron Luthard Freiherr von Hedenberg, German shipping director.

Ship Engineer Held in Girl's Death

Man Is Arrested by Frisco Police Following Party

Body of Louise Jepperson, 23, Found in Golden Gate Park

MAN DENIES GUILT

Says Woman Left Apartment Alone at 3 in the Morning

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—(P)—

Twenty-two hours after the broken body of Miss Louise Jepperson, 23, Utah girl, was found in Golden Gate park, Millard Hickman, port engineer of the Matson Navigation company, was hooked by police on a murder charge.

Hickman admitted, police said, that she was in his apartment until 3 o'clock Sunday morning, but that she left alone.

She was attacked and beaten to death, her body being found in the park.

Police said Hickman was in a party of four drinking and dancing with the girl Saturday night and Sunday.

Body Is Found

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—(P)—A well dressed, red-haired young woman of striking appearance was found slain Sunday in Golden Gate park. She had been attacked and strangled with her own belt. Her skull had been crushed.

Police discovered only three clues that might lead to identity of the woman, who evidently had been slain in the early morning hours. In one of her shoes was written the name "Louise Jepperson," and the name "Louise" also was carved on the back of a small watch she wore. A diamond engagement ring was regarded as still another clue by police. They discarded robbery as a motive for the slaying because neither it nor the watch had been taken.

The body was discovered shortly after 4:30 a. m. by John C. Gentry, a stableman on his way to work. It was lying in a dark underpass at the park's lower west end.

Evidence of a terrific struggle was found near the entrance of the underpass. Officers said they believed it was there that the attack had occurred and that the slayer then dragged the girl, who seemed not more than 20, into the underpass where she was slain.

Shreveport Sheriff Warns Negro and White Agitators

SHREVEPORT, La.—(P)—Sheriff T. R. Hughes Saturday declared a ban on negro "share the wealth societies" in Shreveport and Caddo parish.

Addressing a warning to white organizers and negro members of such groups, Sheriff Hughes said:

"There is no law in the whole United States which will permit one man dividing the property of another, or dividing it up among any group, and no such propaganda or organizations having this as their purpose can be permitted or will be permitted in Shreveport or Caddo parish."

Finance Bill for House Introduced

President's Measure to Speed Construction Reaches Congress

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Legislation requested by President Roosevelt, which Democratic leaders said would provide "several million dollars" for home construction and improvements, was introduced in congress Monday by Chairman Fletcher of the senate banking committee.

The president previously had proposed in a special message that government insurance of private financing for home construction and repair be provided.

Senator Robinson said a move of such magnitude would probably require several weeks for disposition. Under the bill the government would create two corporations with a capital stock of 300 million dollars to co-operate with private companies.

Arm for Gangster Drive

WASHINGTON.—(P)—A war chest of between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 to equip the government's crime fighters was disclosed Sunday night as being under consideration by Justice Department officials and Lewis Douglas, director of the budget.

Establishment of 10 or 12 additional offices of the Division of Investigation, enrollment of 270 men and purchase of 20 armored cars, 300 speedy squad cars and a quantity of sub-machine guns, rifles, bulletproof vests and tear gas equipment are contemplated. Surveys are under way to determine which types of equipment are the best. The department now has 41 agents in 24 offices.

With the legislative program proposed by Attorney General Cummings being gradually accepted by Congress, the Justice Department has been represented as in need of additional administrative facilities.

In addition to wanting equipment for the men who chase the Dillingers, the "Pretty Boy" Floyds and other outlaws, officials said that facilities for prosecution also would need extension. They observed that the burdens of United States attorneys, marshals and their aides would increase.

Racketeering Bill Approved

Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan conferred with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, over the week-end and announced there was general agreement between him and Green on the so-called anti-racketeering bill.

This measure, designed to stamp out violence and intimidation directed against the movement of goods in interstate commerce, has passed the senate and is now in the house judiciary committee. Keenan said that he and Green would suggest to the committee the need for such legislation.

"We are receiving splendid co-operation from labor," Keenan said.

Yemen Chief Surrenders as Conquest Is Made Complete

JIDDA, Arabia.—(P)—An armistice in the war between Saudi Arabia and Yemen was announced officially here Sunday night.

The Imam Yahya of Yemen was said to have accepted peace conditions proposed by King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Fighting ceased in the territory between the captured seaport of Hodeidah and Sana, capital of Yemen, against which King Ibn Saud's troops were reported moving in the latest previous messages from the war zone.

Since 1924, Ibn Saud gradually has extended his power from that of a tribal chieftain until now, even without Yemen, he has placed more Arabs under a single centralized government than any ruler before him was able to accomplish.

Key Witness for Dillinger Aides' Trial Disappears

Mrs. Dolores Smart, 22, Vanishes 24 Hours Before Trial

3 TO FACE COURT

Dillinger's Sweetheart, Doctor and Nurse, Are Accused

Copyright, Associated Press

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(P)—An important government witness in the case of three defendants charged with harboring John Dillinger had disappeared Monday, just 24 hours before trial of the three is scheduled to begin.

The Department of Justice is frantically searching for the woman, Mrs. Dolores Smart, 22, who was released on her own recognizance to appear at the trial of Evelyn Frechette, sweetheart of Dillinger, Dr. Clayton May, and May's nurse Mrs. Augusta Salt.

The government relied on Mrs. Smart's testimony as a strong link in the case.

Officers Score Clean Sweep; Blevins Robbers Bound Over

Roger Monroe, Third to Be Arrested, Identified With Bert Waddell as Being Actual Holdup Pair

Three prisoners—representing a clean sweep by officers in their roundup of suspects in the robbery of the Bank of Blevins last Thursday—were preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge W. K. Lemley in Hope Monday morning and were bound over to the October term of Hempstead circuit court in bail of $7,500.

The three men, Bert Waddell, Will Green and Roger Monroe, were unable to make bond and were placed in the county jail at Washington.

The third arrest—Roger Monroe—was scored Saturday morning near Old River, on the Dooley's Ferry road 16 miles east of Texarkana, by Miller County Sheriff R. W. Turquette.

Waddell and Green were arrested in Texarkana Friday by Chief Clarence E. Baker and Officer Homer Burke of Hope, Waddell being identified by Cashier P. C. Stephens and Merchant Earl White as one of the two men who entered the Bank of Blevins last Thursday and robbed it of $250.

Following Monroe's arrest Saturday morning, which officers kept secret for several hours, Sheriff Turquette brought him to Hope and then to Blevins, where late in the afternoon Monroe was identified by the cashier and the merchant as being the second of the two highwaymen.

Green's alleged part in the robbery was not made clear, but officers pursued the robbery investigation on the theory that while only two men actually entered the bank a third man was believed to have stood by with a waiting escape car.

Monroe, last of the arrested suspects, was only recently released three-year bootlegging sentence.

2 Soldiers Die of Liquor Poisoning

One Dies in Street, Other in Hospital, Third Is Being Treated

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(P)—Two soldiers at the Army and Navy hospital here were dead Monday as the result of poison believed by officers to have been contained in whisky they drank while on a party Sunday night.

A third man is receiving treatment at the hospital.

The dead are: Marcus D. Roberts, England, Ark.; and John L. Johnston, Atkins, Ark.

Roberts was found on the street, and died a few minutes after being removed to the hospital.

Johnston managed to make his way to the building for treatment but died a short time afterward.

NRA to Put Curb on Too High Prices

Coded Industries May Have to Report Prices to Government

WASHINGTON.—Federal power to veto prices which private businesses are charging their customers may be asked soon by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, it was reported Sunday night.

Johnson's request, opening gun in a battle against charges that the NRA is fostering monopoly and high prices, will have to go to President Roosevelt for his approval. If he agrees with his recovery chief, the president can empower him to supervise and check prices by issuing an executive order under the recovery laws. No congressional sanction is necessary.

Two drastic changes are expected to be made in the price policies Johnson has been following. First, he may require all coded industries to report their prices to the NRA instead of to their own code authorities as at present. Second, Johnson may demand that the government veto any prices which it considers extortionate or unreasonable.

How broad Johnson wants to make his new price control is not certain. No official statement on his plans has come from him or the NRA. But through the major NRA producing and retain codes, he could supervise prices from the time raw materials leave their producers until the finished product is sold to a consumer.

An impending life and death struggle between the NRA and the higher prices which have grown up under protection of its own codes is forcing the revision in policy. Already Johnson is fighting with the bugbear of "over-production" because high prices under the NRA are choking sales and forcing goods to pile up in inventories.

Tomorrow, the NRA is allowing all silk textile mills in the country to shut down for a week "to alleviate the increasing ills of overproduction." Thirty thousand workers will be unemployed while the industry tries to rid itself of its surpluses.

The silk shutdown was ordered by the Silk Textile Code Authority, the board set up by the industry, itself to rule under the code. Officially, NRA did not order or approve the lay off, but it is watching closely. It may suggest the same device to other industries. The cotton textile manufacturers are reported eyeing the silk shutdown enviously.

Death Penalty for Shank Affirmed

Supreme Court Rules Evidence Showed He Poisoned Entire Family

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The Arkansas Supreme Court Monday affirmed the death sentence imposed on Mark H. Shank, Akron, Ohio, attorney, for the poison murder of Alvin Colley, also of Akron, and his wife and two small sons last summer near Benton.

The court held that although Shank was placed on trial at Benton last December for the murder of Alvin Colley the evidence showed that he also poisoned the other members of the family.

Washington Host to Many Visitors

12th Annual Homecoming and Mothers' Day Is Observed

As has been the custom for many years Washington opened its portals Sunday to hundreds of former residents and visitors who always return there to honor the mothers for whom the day stands and to renew acquaintances with friends and relatives.

The occasion was the observance of the 12th annual Homecoming and Mothers' day. Many visitors from towns in Arkansas and other states attended.

Homecoming and Mothers' day usually centers around the church service, all denominations uniting. The service was held in the Baptist church, the Rev. W. E. Elmore delivering the sermon. Following the services a noon-day lunch was served on the courthouse lawn where all present were most generously provided for.

During the afternoon most of the ex-Washingtonians either visited the cemetery or some historic place of interest to the NRA instead of to their own code authorities as at present. Second, Johnson may demand that the government veto any prices which it considers extortionate or unreasonable.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

U. S. Plans Faith on Grew to Keep Far East Peace. Bonus Battle Site Still Vacant. . . Millions Probe in Capable Hands. . . Japan Will Push on in China.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—"Thank God," State Department men were telling each other when the recent Japanese jitters were worst, "we've got Joe Grew over there, or we might be having a war."

What they meant was that the sort of dumb, preventable incident which sometimes leads to conflict wouldn't happen as long as Joseph C. Grew was ambassador to Tokyo. That's the one big world capital Roosevelt and Farley didn't dare staff with politics or campaign contributions in mind.

Since Ambassador Hugh Gibson went out of style at European conferences and Ambassador Sumner Welles didn't do so well in Cuba, Grew has been the prize apple in our diplomatic barrel.

He is a famous tiger hunter and a deaf man who learned how to read lips. He raised a family of athletes and, while he was ambassador to Turkey, one of his daughters surprised everybody by swimming the length of the Bosphorus.

Aristocratic son of a Boston banking family, Grew was graduated from Groton and Harvard and went big game hunting through the Orient and East Indies. He came down of fever in India and the care a consul gave him then interested him in the consular service.

Over family objections, he became a consular clerk at Cairo in 1904. Friends in Washington used their influence to get him promoted, and Theodore Roosevelt consented when he heard how Grew had crawled into a black cave to kill a tiger which lived there.

So Grew became a "career man." He is more than six feet tall, dark, with coal-black hair, mustache, slightly stooped, a baseball fan, friendly, very efficient, pro-American, and impressive in his sincerity. Of course he couldn't have become an ambassador if he had not been wealthy.

Bonus Camp Still Vacant
The tiny Communist-sponsored bonus march reminded Washington that the down-town blocks were the one and only Bonus Army camped two years ago are still just vacant lots, though President Hoover sent troops to drive out the veterans with the plea that the land was needed promptly for the federal building program and would "provide employment."

The square where two bonus marchers were killed is surrounded by a board fence and congressmen are demanding that something be done to improve the appearance of this area along Pennsylvania avenue.

Senate Committee Opposed to Investigate the Munitions Industry
A hard time picking a chief investigator adequate for the job. One reason was that certain members didn't want "another Pecora" who would overshadow their own efforts and crowd them from the limelight.

That reason explains why the State Department's proposal of a brother of one of its officials—an academic given who teaches at Princeton—at first found favor and had to be beaten down.

Flynn Ernst, New York Lawyer, was consulted after that. There was some question whether Ernst could give all his time to the munitions job. Then the committee turned its attention to John T. Flynn.

Flynn is an investigator and writer who exposed the Wall Street investment trusts and other instances of skulduggery in high finance. Long before the Senate got around to Long, he was the first to partially expose that scandal.

Japan Will Push On
Net result of the Japanese outburst and Secretary Hull's firm reply is that this government knows just what it knows before.

Japan will continue her penetration of China in a program of expansion which began when she went after Korea 30 years ago.

Officials who have lived in the Orient many years explain Tokyo's recent gesture simply. The Japanese are working on world opinion, just as on Chinese territory, by a process of attrition.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Humor and Exciting Narrative Are Wholesome for Children

I was interested in seeing what they would do about Hansel and Gretel, the two children who found the witch's house in the woods all made of cakes and candy, and the witch herself who caged up Hansel to fatten him for the oven.

The auditorium was full of bursting with children of all ages. The Junior League was staging a benefit for their children's fund last week. It was "The Children's Music Box," a collection of little plays, a regular "Chauncey Soiree," done up in juvenile style.

It consisted of pantomime, folk songs and dances, a comedy of Milne's, excellent music, and the piece de resistance of the afternoon, "Hansel and Gretel."

The March of the Wooden Soldiers was greeted with cheers. The children sat up straight on their seats.

A Child's Taste
"The King's Breakfast" met appreciative giggles. Children love humor, and the King and Queen, caricatured, and the Cow and Dairy maid struck their risibilities, amusements. Loud applause.

"Sur le Pont," and "Claire de Lune," French musical pantomime and dance were lovely, but I suspect the kids thought it was just being good for them. Culture food, all done up in French, although it was really very lovely. Back in their seats—interested but not barking with joy.

Then romance, "The Sleeping Beauty." Fine, but nothing to get the teeth into. No thrills much, except the ugly bad fairy and her cackle. Up in the seats again went the children. Much talking! "Now she's going to prick her finger—watch." All eyes on the spinning wheel. And that was that.

The rattle before "Hansel and Gretel" presaged something. The story was long and good. It worked up to a climax. This time the children were on the edges of their chairs.

I was worried when the last scene opened. There was the candy house, the cage, and the oven in full view. The program said Hansel would be turned into a ginger-bread boy. But the children knew that the witch ate little boys and wasn't particularly why use it like bricks to build a house?

I worried for two reasons. Would the terrific old hag, and then goodness she was terrific, let her cannibalistic intentions be known? Or would the whole thing be a fade-out, turned into duck soup and end in a burst of song before anything happened?

What do you think? Which way did the cat jump? Well, he jumped to suit the youngsters. Hansel was bundled none too gently into his cage and Gretel forced to feed him cakes to fatten him; and altogether the big, bad witch behaved with ghoulish glee.

Excitement in Fiction
Then the oven! The audience under four feet high stood up. This was going to be good. Gretel fooled the witch and pushed her into the stove intended for her brother, then she released the very handsome Hansel and they took their strawberries and went home.

Were those children tickled? Yes'm, they were. If anything less "melter-dramatic" had been wished on them they would have been inconsolable. Of course it was all done with certain "visions of speech." A sweep of the hand without too many upsetting details. That takes expert playwrighting.

But children can stand and seem to need the excitement of danger in their fiction. Pirates, Indians, witches, and big bad wolves are, in their way, delightful. At least reading about them never hurt anybody. But watch the tiny tots. They are not quite ready for such condiments.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

Caution Required in Dieting

Dieting too vigorously is one thing which the woman who wishes to lose weight should guard against. There is great danger in planning a rigid reducing diet without first consulting a reliable physician. Just because your neighbor went on a liquid diet, lost 15 pounds and suffered no ill effects, is no sign that the same type of diet is right for you. Your body and blood may be such that plain foods for days and days would prove harmful. So get medical advice before you start.

Some Portraits Of Mothers (With No Apologies to Whistler)

However, no matter what foods are best for you, there's no reason to eat an excess of any one of them. The person who wants to be more slender should always feel a trifle hungry when she leaves the table. Forego the second helping of anything and don't be tempted to take the little extra sweets that are passed around after the dessert course unless you have eaten sparingly and passed up the dessert itself.

Everyone should drink eight glasses of water each day and the woman on a diet should increase her amount to ten glasses. Two of them, lukewarm, must be taken before breakfast.

Home Clubs

A better home meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. C. Collier on May 4.

Mrs. Gordon led the program by giving the poem "Home" by Edgar A. Guest. A talk on Better Homes was given by Mrs. H. O. Kyles which was very interesting.

Other features included two piano solos by Miss Helen Crews, a reading by Eula Dean Caudle.

Delightful refreshments were served to: Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. H. O. Kyles, Mrs. George Crews, Mrs. E. Aaron, Mrs. Charles Garner, Mrs. Ernest Ross, Mrs. O. J. Phillips, Mrs. Hugh Lassiter, Mrs. Gifford Byers, Misses Forrest Ruggles, Ada Mae England, Kathryn Ross, Helen Crews, Eula Dean Caudle, and Mrs. J. E. McWilliams.

ONCE UPON A TIME

25 YEARS AGO

Young Foster is home from Little Rock today.

J. W. Phillips was down from Washington today.

Joe Greene spent last night with home folks, returning to Texarkana this morning.

Married: At the home of Mrs. T. J. Huddy, on Friday evening, May 7th, Mr. Leco Bundy and Miss Jett Foster were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Hammons officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. T. N. Black, and the groom a popular salesman of the Reeves Clothing Co. Their many friends will join us in the best wishes for their future happiness.

E. P. Stewart and Dr. E. Y. Cloud are enjoying a fishing trip to Beards Lake.

Chas. Conway, of Texarkana, spent last night in Hope, a guest at the Barlow Hotel.

Misses Florence Bayett and Justine Moore are spending today in Texarkana.

Webb Luster and Glen Hart, of Pine Bluff, spent Sunday in this city the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Richard Allison, of Atlanta, Texas, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Red.

very interesting.

Other features included two piano solos by Miss Helen Crews, a reading by Eula Dean Caudle.

Delightful refreshments were served to: Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. H. O. Kyles, Mrs. George Crews, Mrs. E. Aaron, Mrs. Charles Garner, Mrs. Ernest Ross, Mrs. O. J. Phillips, Mrs. Hugh Lassiter, Mrs. Gifford Byers, Misses Forrest Ruggles, Ada Mae England, Kathryn Ross, Helen Crews, Eula Dean Caudle, and Mrs. J. E. McWilliams.

Memphis Bill the other day, when experts again asked the question after a pinch hitter had been sent in for Joe Bowman in the sixth inning, at a time when the big right-hander was breezing along with a seven-run lead.

It was Bowman's maiden effort in the National League, and Sam Leslie had snuck one of his shoots for a home run in the Dodgers' half of the round. And the cautious Terry jerked the recruit before he had a chance to show whether he would become unmoved.

Upon taking command of the New York outfit in June, 1932, following the death of John McGraw, Terry lost no time in proving that he had the prime requisite of a field marshal. No one has yet accused him of being unable to make up his mind.

Old Honus Nonplussed
Terry being quick with the hook is welcome relief. One so often sees games blasted away and larrupped lopsided as hesitant managers sit there hoping that faltering pitchers will, by some stroke of magic, recover their stuff.

Young Joe Cronin's patience with General Crowder in the sixth session of the second game of the world series last fall was a striking example.

"I wonder just what a club has to do to knock a pitcher out of there," remarked old Honus Wagner, seated at my right, as Joe Moore singled across second base to chase Gus Mancuso home with the sixth run of the round. The Giant outfielder's hit was his second of the inning and his club's seventh. And baseball's richest prize at stake!

American League owners, managers and players still profess to believe that all of Charley Stoneham's men plucked four-leaf clovers just before they weloped the Washington entry last fall. Clark Griffith referred to them as phony champions, and the latest to cast aspersions against the Giants and the senior circuit is Jimmy Fox.

"I don't believe the Giants would finish in the first division of the American League," asserted the home run king. "But wouldn't I like to play with them! I'd play for nothing the first year on account of the fat contract I'd get the second."

Hurlers' Task Lightened
Mancuso, the thinker, is back, and George Watkins, the former Cardinal, has adjusted his slights. If the latter retains his old swing, as he should, Carlos Hubbell, Hal Schumacher and fat Freddie Fitzsimmons won't have to worry along with slim margins as frequently as they did last year.

The stricken Roy Parmelee's shoes apparently fit Bowman, who graduated from the Coast League on the strength of copping 23 contests. Schumacher again is able to go the route, and no club is going into a protracted slump with the rubber-armed Hubbell lying around handy.

Watson Clark's arm is said to be responding. Terry's athletes already have demonstrated what they can accomplish with one stingy southpaw. What would they do with two?

I am inclined to agree with those who contend that even the die-hards soon will be forced to confess that there is more to the Giants than Blundy Ryan's slogans.

They're paid to be dissatisfied with telephone service

The men and women who furnish your telephone service here could not do their job so well without the help of Bell Telephone Laboratories, research organization of the telephone service.

Four thousand workers in Bell Telephone Laboratories, the research organization of the telephone service, search constantly for scientific short-cuts and inventions that will give you better telephone service at a low cost.

They have, through their researches, made it possible for you to talk across continents and seas. They have made a single long distance line carry four simultaneous conversations. In scores of ways, they have contributed to the quality and clearness of your local telephone service.

Bell Laboratories is one of a specialized group of organizations that serves the 24 Bell operating companies, of which the Southwestern Company is one. It plays an important part in giving you good telephone service at a fair cost.

This is a fundamental Bell System policy. Back of it is our belief that in an undertaking planned, like the telephone service, for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the policy that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

He who walks beside a rosebud and sees the flowers bloom, its lovely form and color, its delicate perfume, the clear blue sky, the sunrise and the sunset, the tints that glow and die; who treads a rural pathway, and hears the sing of birds, and notes the trembling grasses a passing breeze has stirred; who dwells among his fellows and helps them through the day; who feels their every heartbeat, has found the perfect way; who sees the good and beautiful in all God's creatures fair; who always says a kindly word to those who've nunny a care; who leads and guides some wanderer to the gate of the fold; has stored for himself in eternity's bank, a fortune of purest gold.

last week, was the Miscellaneous shower given on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lee Wormack on South Washington street, announcing the marriage of Miss Lois Dodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Dodson of this city, who wedding to David Knighton of Stamps, was solemnized on Saturday, April 28. The rooms were attractive with a quantity of lovely summer flowers and the honoree was presented with two baskets of beautiful gifts. About thirty friends hemmed tea towels during the afternoon, with the prize going to Mrs. W. A. Lewis for the neatest sewing. A delightful ice course was served with cake by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wendling and son of Shreveport, La., spent the week-end with Mrs. Wendling's mother, Mrs. E. G. Porterfield and other relatives.

In celebration of their fifth birthday anniversary, the members of the Friday Music club entertained at a most delightful tea, at the Elks Home on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. For this most prominent social event of the season, the auditorium was a bower of lovely pink radiance roses, floor baskets filled with roses were grouped about the stage and piano, and the beautifully appointed small tables arranged throughout the floor space held vases of pink roses. The guests for the afternoon were greeted at the door by Misses Frances White and Eleanor Foster and introduced to the receiving line, which included the club president and officers, by Mrs. J. O. Milam, Mrs. J. M. Houston and Mrs. Jack Howard.

Following the introduction, all guests with their hostess were seated at small tables where they could hear and view the afternoon's program.

Mrs. C. C. McNeill welcomed the guests in a very graceful manner and introduced Mrs. J. C. Carlson, Choral director and general chairman of the celebration. Mrs. Carlson mentioned some of the activities of the club during the past year and announced the following program:

(a) Let All My Life be Music, (b) To Music, by the Choral Club. Violin solo, Serenade (arranged by Kreisler) by Miss Helen McRae. (c) Ashes of Roses, (d) Homing, (e) When I'm with You, by Mrs. H. D. Mayer. (f) Around the Gypsy Fire, (g) Welcome Pretty Primrose, by the Choral Club. Uiano Solo, Quartette from Rigoletto, by Mrs. B. C. Hyatt. Reading, Scene from Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan," by Miss Eleanor Foster. (h) Lost Chord, (i) Love's Dream, by the Choral Club.

During the intermission following the program delightful refreshments in the club colors, pink and white, were served to 144 guests, after which a very clever and interesting Musical Review in which old and rather modern songs were depicted in costumes by different members of the club.

Out-of-town guests attending this delightful affair were Mesdames Talbot, Gurluck, Lauderdale and Ganant, officers of the Magnolia Music club; Mesdames Life, Green and Ganant representing the Stamps Music club; Miss Anne Turner of St. Louis, and other visitors from Fulton, Columbus, Olan and Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Beard and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Talley spent Mothers' Day with Mr. Talley's relatives in Shreveport, La.

Miss Josephine Cannon accompanied by Misses Wilma and Jennie Kincannon of Booneville and Charles Welch of Arkadelphia, all students in Ouachita college, spent the week-end with Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Cannon.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Talley have as house guest this week, Mrs. C. S. Winston of Shreveport, La.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis had as Mothers' Day guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Davis of El Dorado and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thornton and daughter, Louise, of Texarkana.

Misses Nell Helms and Alice Mae Waddle spent the week-end with friends in Henderson State Teachers college, Arkadelphia.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Fox of Morristown, Tenn., are house guests of Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Cannon. Dr. and Mrs. Cannon will hold Open House this evening from 7:30 to 10, to meet Rev. and Mrs. Fox. Rev. Fox having been pastor of the First Baptist church in this city at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Brummett had as Sunday guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ed McGhee and son, Floyd, of Kilgore, Mrs. John Rols, Jr., of Houston, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brummett and Ivis Brummett of Texarkana.

Miss Francis Drake and Mrs. Earle Fischer spent Thursday and Friday in Magnolia, attending the annual homecoming for A. M. students.

Mrs. W. M. Reeves and daughter, Jacqueline, returned home this week-end from a visit with Mrs. Reeves' daughter, Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mr. Davis at Monroe, La.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bader and sons, Edward and Stephen, motored home Sunday from Monroe, La., where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Charles Benson.

DIGEST LAUNCHES

The mailing list for months to bring the names and addresses up to date. A large number of additional inspectors and clerks have been employed to tally the returns. The whole staff has already been organized and are ready for work at the poll headquarters of the Literary Digest.

The publishers state that over 1,000,000 pounds of paper have been used in printing the ballots, envelopes and letters of instruction. The postage bill for this current poll will provide interesting work for mathematicians. As was the rule in former polls, the publishers state that no requests for ballots can be granted to those whose names do not appear on their mailing list, a rule which has insured the correctness of all previous Digest polls. The first returns of the current poll will appear in the Literary Digest for May 19.

"BIG TIME" KIDNAP

Two months went by without any tangible results. But now the case is beginning to open up. Chicago police have arrested a former state representative, and charged him with conspiracy in the Bremer kidnapping.

They believe his arrest is the beginning of the breaking up of a "hot money" ring in Chicago which has specialized in disposal of ransom money and stolen bonds.

Fingerprints Are Found

Six men and two women, with a miscellaneous crime record behind every one of them, were rounded up in a bloodless raid on a farm near Mannford, Okla. Police gathered at night at Mannford in force, armed with every modern protective and offensive device, and descended on the farmhouse just as the sun rose.

The house surrounded, officers kicked in the door and arrested all the sleepy inmates before they could offer resistance. But they were small fry, wanted all over the United States, it is true, for various crimes, but still small fry.

The best things found on this raid were fingerprints. The telltale prints of Arthur (Doc) Barker and Alvin Karpis were found on gasoline cans and flashlights about the farmhouse. Already under indictment in the Bremer case, these two known desperadoes are suspected of having played the major part in it, and to have been closely enough allied with John Dillinger that he himself may have had something to do with this kidnapping.

So the hunt for Barker and Karpis was speeded up.

Paroled; Back in Crime

Though he has twice escaped from custody, and was finally sentenced to life in the Oklahoma state penitentiary for murder, Barker was paroled in September, 1932, after serving 10 years. Since then he has been apparently active in a long series of crimes.

Barker has gone by the name of Bob Barker and Claude Dale, and has a brother Lloyd serving time in Fort Leavenworth.

Karpis, his probable comrade, is also a professional criminal who has served time for burglary, larceny, and safe-blowing. Karpis of Karpavics, has also gone under the names of Carter, Raymond Hadley, George Haller, Earl Peel, George Dunn, R. E. Hamilton, and Ray Hunter.

When these two are rounded up, it is not unlikely that they may be found in connection with John Dillinger and his gang, for there is evidence that they have worked with them in recent months.

And that would make a roundup really worth going after.

NEXT: The Dillinger Gang, whose defiance of all the forces of law and order has made a sort of Roman holiday of the last few months.

Rains End Drouth in Part of West

Some Relief Reported Over Week-End, But More Is Needed

CHICAGO.—(P)—Rains and a fresh snowstorm combined Sunday to give the parched Midwest promise of the end of the severe drouth that for weeks caused terrific damage to crops.

The rains—drizzles in some sections, downpours in others—were more or less general in the drouth area. Agricultural experts said that the precipitation aided the dwarfed crops but more rain was imperative to bring permanent improvement. Clouds and forecasts of rain gave farmers cheer.

Snow fell for an hour in the territory to Scotts Bluff, Neb., melting as it hit the ground. It brought half an inch of moisture to the beet fields.

Elsewhere in Nebraska, cool and damp weather prevailed after thunder showers Saturday. There were showers over much of the state Sunday.

Iowa had scattered showers but dust storms were reported again at Sioux Falls and Cherokee. Charles Reed, meteorologist, said Saturday's rains in Iowa were sufficient to assure germination of corn and would help the oats crop. Two men were killed in the state by lightning.

Offer Prizes for Farm Competition

Memphis Commercial Appeal Sponsors Diversification Program

A "Plant to Prosper" competition, sponsored by the Memphis Commercial Appeal, with the co-operation of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee and farm authorities in the Mid-South, has been announced for the sole purpose of encouraging the farmer to break away from the one-crop system of farming.

Agricultural leaders advise that the government's reduction program provides a splendid opportunity for the farmer to develop a system of crop diversification which would enable him to live at home on the farm practically independent of outside economic forces.

It is to encourage the farmer to take advantage of this opportunity that the "Plant to Prosper" competition was brought into being. With this one thought in mind, the Commercial Appeal and the Chamber of Commerce sought an obtained the assistance of farm leaders from Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee in the development of the rules governing the competition.

The plan of the competition is simple. Four state competitions will be conducted, one in Mississippi, one in Tennessee, one in Arkansas, and one in the combined cotton counties which lie in the Mid-South territory but are parts of the following states: Missouri, Louisiana, Alabama, Kentucky. The cotton counties of the Commercial Appeal territory in these four latter states shall be regarded as a single state for the purposes of this competition.

A first and a second prize will be awarded in each of the four state competitions, and the first state prize to be $100 and the second state prize to be $25. The winners of the four state first prizes will compete with each other for the grand prize: The Commercial Appeal Trophy and $500 with which the Memphis Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee supplements the Commercial Appeal awards.

The Grand Prize winner will be selected from the four state winners by a committee which R. B. Snowden, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, will select Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to select.

The selection of state winners will be made from among the farmers who win The Commercial Appeal Certificate of Honor in each county. One such certificate will be awarded in each county entering as many as five farmers in the competition. No county will be permitted to participate in the competition with less than five entrants.

The county winners will be selected by a committee to be picked by the county agricultural agent and the newspaper editor or editors in each county. These winners are to be named, one in each county, upon the basis of reports to be made, under direction of Frank R. Stanley, on July 1, August 1, September 1 and October 1.

State judging committees will attempt to reduce the total of these county winners to 10 farms which will be visited personally and inspected before a state decision is made.

The winning farmer in each county must be chosen not later than November 1 and notification of the selection sent to the state committee by that date if he is to be eligible for the state awards. State winners must be selected not later than December 1, and notification to that effect sent to the governing committee by that date if the state winner is to be eligible for the grand prize, which will be given not later than December 20.

State extension leaders in Missouri, Louisiana, Kentucky and Alabama have been invited to confer regarding some method by which a state winner of first and second place can be selected from the cotton counties of the Mid-South in this composite group.

The "Plant to Prosper" competition is open to every farmer in the Mid-South who co-operates with the government's crop reduction program by signing an acreage reduction contract. Size of the farm does not figure in the competition in any way. It is open to every farmer in this territory regardless of the size of the farm.

It is not intended that any farmer shall try to do all the things recommended by the government for use of rented acres unless his own farm needs justify so comprehensive a program. The purpose of this competition is to find the farmer who best uses the rented acres in accordance with his own needs and in conjunction with a definite live-at-home program for the present and future.

Farmers intending to compete for the prizes must fill out the entry blank to be secured at the County Agent's office in the city hall not later than June 15.

Bodies of Farm Couple Are Found

Murder and Suicide Followed by Fire Near Rogers, Ark.

ROGERS, Ark.—(P)—The charred bodies of Earl Finch, 62, and his wife, Bertha, were found in the ashes of their farm home north of here Monday.

Neighbors found the bodies and summoned authorities, who expressed the theory that the case was murder and suicide.

A coroner's inquest was held Monday afternoon and after investigation the officers said they were of the opinion Finch shot his wife and then himself, after setting fire to the home.

A Movie Wedding, But Real Just the Same

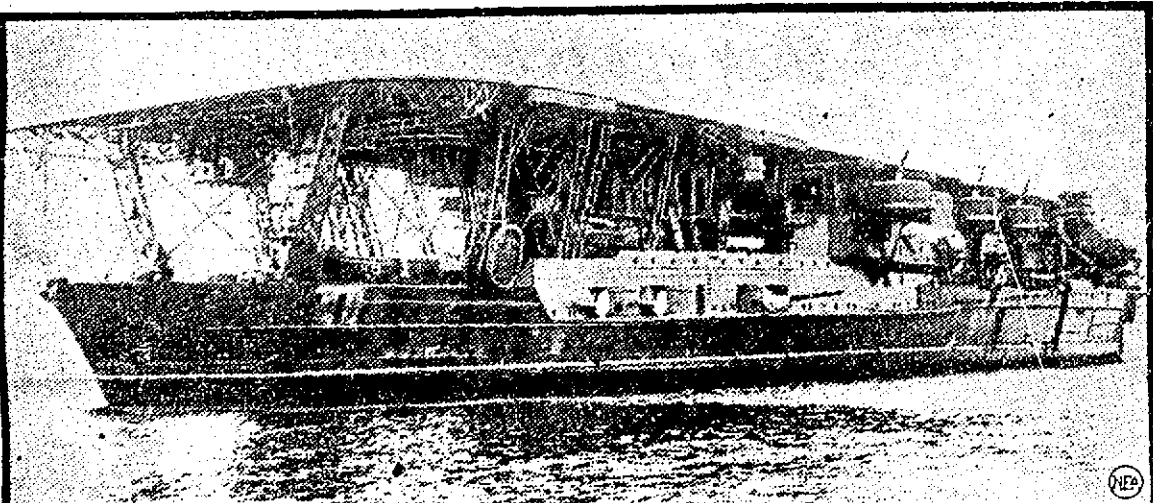

Just like in the movies, though it was real, and very much in earnest, was the wedding of Carmelita Geraghty, film actress, to Carey Wilson, scenario writer. Here are the flower-decked bride, left, and bridegroom, with Jean Harlow, right, who was matron of honor.

Macon Flashes Vision of Beauty in Tropic Sky

A gleam of silver against a tropical background, the Macon, the navy's sky queen, here floats majestically over Miami, Fla., on its way to join the U. S. fleet for maneuvers in the West Indies. The air giant carried a crew of 100 on its flight to the Caribbean.

Japanese Can Carry 50 Planes on This Vessel

Fifty fighting aircraft can find room on this strange-looking Japanese plane carrier, the Akagi, seen here from the stern. Originally laid down in 1920 as a battle cruiser, the vessel was transformed to carry planes after the Washington naval conference that fixed ratios of the world's leading sea forces.

Luke Lea Starts for Prison

His three-year battle to evade prison lost, Col. Luke Lea, once U. S. senator from Tennessee and a World War hero, is shown here, at left, as he left the capitol in Nashville to start his trip to North Carolina penitentiary to serve six to ten years. Lea, with his son, was convicted on charges growing out of a bank failure in Asheville, N. C. With him is Sheriff L. E. Brown of Asheville.

Cannon "Fire"

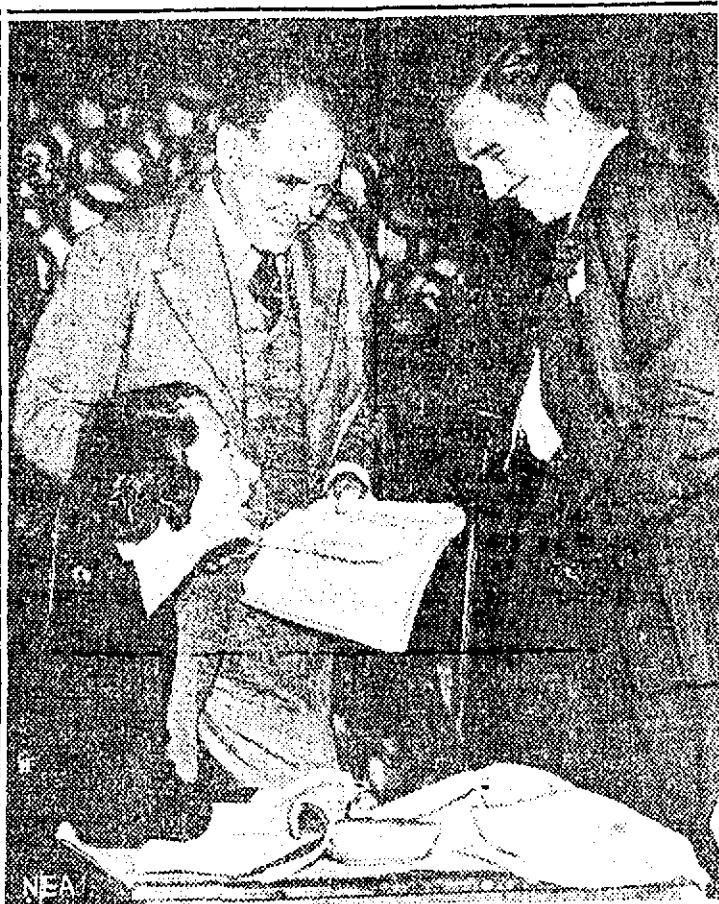

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was in no mood for pictures when, as shown here, he brandished his stick at cameramen on emerging from a Washington, D. C., court. For at his trial there for alleged conspiracy to violate the Corrupt Practices Act, he has just heard himself referred to as one who "arrogantly wraps the robes of his church about him and says 'I do as I please.'"

Maybe It's a Honeymoon They See

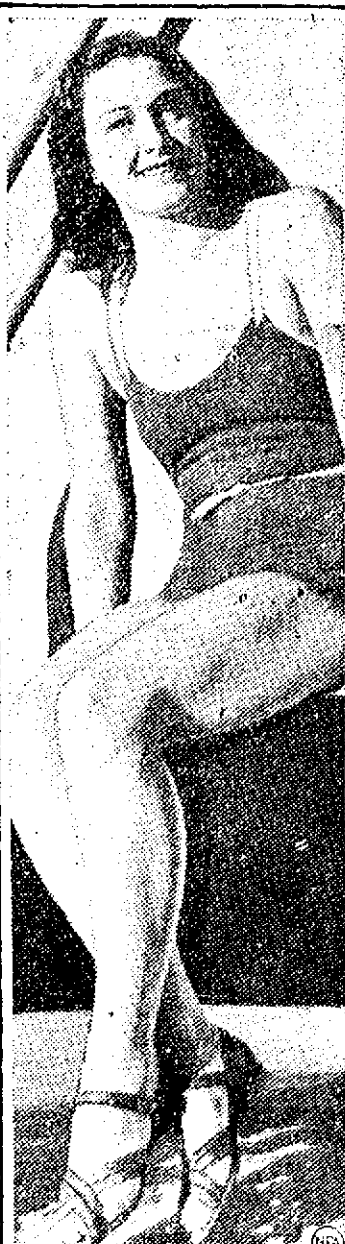

The rainbow of happiness might be up there where Jimmy Dunn and Patricia Lee are gazing so sallying, or again it might be a cozy third-floor apartment that takes their fancy. In any event, it's the talk in Hollywood that they'll be the next of the film colony to wed, as they've been seen together often in recent months.

Man and Wife—in Play, Anyway

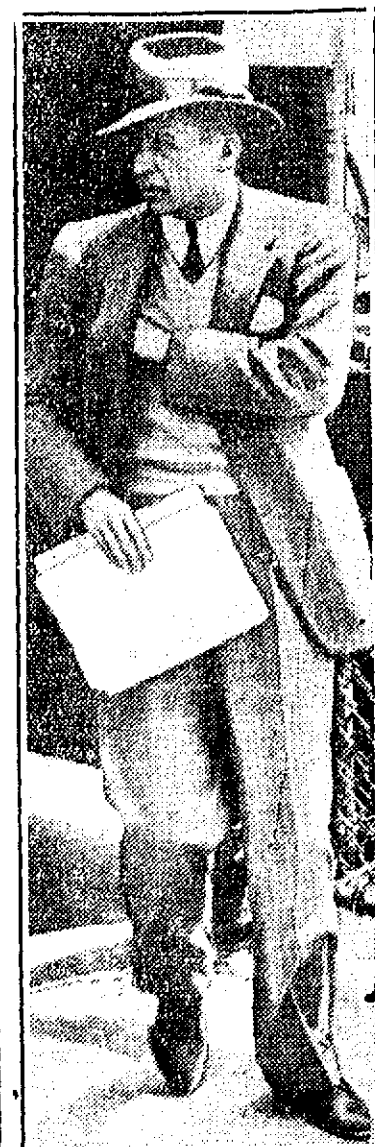

Maybe it's because Director Lewis Casson (center) is telling them how to play man and wife in a forthcoming London play that Miss Gertrude Lawrence, noted British actress, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., are looking at each other so happily. It's been rumored that they'll play man and wife soon—in real life.

Mate Doesn't Like Her Type

Olive Hatch, southern California swim star, above, liked to pound her typewriter at night, while her husband, Hubert L. Voight, preferred to pound his car. So they naturally disagreed, charging that his sleep was ruined, Voight, studio publicity manager, has filed a divorce suit in Los Angeles.

Marry Hepburn? He Won't Tell

If Leland Hayward is on his way to wed Katharine Hepburn, he won't tell. The manager and reported fiancé of the famed film actress refused to confirm or deny the rumor as he sparred with interviewers when he changed planes in Chicago en route to New York, as shown here. And Katharine says she has no such idea.

Wins Fiancee From Brother

Because Arthur Young, 23, worked days and had time for courting, he won Lucille May Tomes, 18, Lynchburg, Va., from his brother, Fay Young, 24, her fiancé, who worked nights. The betrothed pair quarrelled, Arthur stepped in to rush his courtship in the evenings, and so he and Lucille went to the Los Angeles marriage license bureau, as shown here.

Rumor Romance For Stage Star

Barbara Newberry, musical comedy star, has found romance in England, according to whispers among stage folk. Rumor that she will wed George Farrar, a Briton, was brought back to America by her dancing partner, Carl Randall.

3 Minutes Old—And a Picture

"Look pleasant, huh? How about this? I've been on earth only three minutes and along comes one of those pesky cameramen!" So the new daughter of Photographer Walter Materna, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., lets loose a lusty yowl as her proud papa sets what he claims is a world record, "Snapping" a baby three minutes after birth.

Not in Films, But in Politics

Confounding veteran campaigners who predicted her failure, lovely 21-year-old Margaret Crang (above) romped home second to the top in civic elections in Edmonton, Alberta, and was elected alderman—the youngest in Canada. A lawyer of considerable prominence, Miss Crang holds two university degrees.

Mother Jailed for Branding

Convicted of branding her seven-year-old daughter Esta (below) with a white hot poker to make her behave, Mrs. Lydia Reed (top) was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail at Lakewood, N. J. "That's the way my mother taught me when I was little," Mrs. Reed was reported as saying.

First Lady Denies Furniture Profits

The charge of Senator Thomas D. Schall that the furniture plant owned by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was selling furniture at five times the price charged for similar products of other factories, brought a sharp denial from the First Lady, who said the founders of the factory have "not made a cent." She is here shown examining displays of handwork by miners at the Commerce Building, where she issued her denial.

Here's Dust in Your Eye

Pedestrians and motorists fled for shelter, blinded and choking, as a dust storm swept across Chicago from the drought-stricken western prairies and raged far to the east. Above is shown Michigan avenue during the gale, with only a few of the braver Chicagoans venturing on their way in the smothering clouds of dust.

Your Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Lets Scare of Causes for Bleeding Gums

When your gums bleed, you can ascribe the condition to one or more of a score of causes. The most common are those having to do with dental care. In fact, there are as many as 12 of these.

Besides these, there are eight causes of bleeding gums which lie within the body itself.

The more common causes, associated with improper care of the teeth, are:

1. Accumulations of tartar which cause bleeding by pressing and cutting the delicate gum tissues.
2. Cavities which go down to or under the gum line, causing irritation and bleeding because of the sharp edges which they possess.
3. Overhanging fillings and crowns which press down on the gum tissue.
4. Broken down roots with sharp edges which irritate the tissues.
5. Irregular teeth, which cause bleeding pockets to be formed between the teeth.
6. Lack of toothbrushing.
7. Improper toothbrushing.
8. Use of toothpicks and other such implements for "picking the teeth."
9. Improper use of dental floss.
10. Introduction of foreign materials into the mouth and the continuation of such habit over a period of time; e. g., nails, pins, pencils, etc.
11. Mouth-breathing.
12. Overuse of the wind type of musical instruments.

These 12 causes of bleeding gums may be fairly obvious to you. But the more troublesome conditions are allied either with severe disease or with very bad hygiene. These are:

1. Blood diseases, such as anemia.
2. Diseases of the ductless glands, such as goiter.
3. Diabetes.
4. Kidney diseases.
5. Tuberculosis in the later stages.
6. Improper diet:

- (a) Lack of fresh vegetables.
- (b) Overabundance of carbohydrates.

7. Allergies—food or drugs which cause skin and gum reactions in some individuals.
8. Lack of good general hygiene:

- (a) Lack of sleep.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 29

Referred to the People by the General Assembly in regular session assembled, 1933.

Be it resolved by the Senate of the State of Arkansas and the House of Representatives of the State of Arkansas, a majority of all members elected to each House agreeing thereto:

That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and, upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Senators and Representatives, if a majority of the electors, voting thereon, at such an election adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

Except for the purpose of refunding the existing outstanding indebtedness of the State and for assuming and refunding valid outstanding road improvement district bonds, the State of Arkansas shall issue no bonds or other evidence of indebtedness pledging the faith and credit of the State or any of its revenues for any purpose whatsoever, except by and with the consent of the majority of the qualified electors of the State voting on the question at a general election or at a special election called for that purpose.

This Amendment to the Constitution of Arkansas shall be self-executing and require no enabling act, but shall take and have full force and effect immediately upon its adoption by the electors of the State.

The above resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Arkansas on the 30th day of January, 1933.

Each elector may vote for, or against, the above proposed amendment.

WITNESS MY HAND and Official seal of this office the 28th day of March, 1934.

ED F. McDONALD, Secretary of State.

Fluffs and Ambrosia Delicious

By MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff, Writer

Unfortunately we can't all afford to have in and out of season on our table the great blushing perfect peaches, sweet cherries, and prize strawberries. But that's no reason for not serving specimens of these fruits

so beautiful in dozens of delicious ways.

Try a few of these, for instance:

Strawberry Fluff

Use one egg white, 1 cup hulled

strawberries, 1 cup powdered sugar,

Sut strawberries in a mixing bowl,

Beat with a rotary beater for about twenty minutes. The mixture will explode and become exceedingly light and fluffy. Pipe into sherbet cups or parfait glasses and chill thoroughly.

Serve with cake or cookies or with a garnish of whipped cream.

Other small fruits and berries can be used in place of strawberries.

Fruit Cups

Fruit cups make tempting desserts.

They should be somewhat richer and sweeter than when prepared for appetizers. Diced strawberries, pineapple, oranges, bananas, sweet cherries and grapefruit can be used in various combinations. Prepare the fruit carefully and let stand in a heavy syrup for several hours, on ice, to chill and sweeten. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Ambrosia

Pee! fine, large seedless oranges and slice as thinly as possible. Arrange the slices on individual serving plates and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar and then with shredded coconut. Cover each slice of orange with a layer of shredded fresh pineapple.

Add another layer of orange, sugar and coconut. Add a third layer of orange and cover thickly with coconut. Strew with slices of strawberries and put a perfect whole berry right in the very center. Chill several hours and serve.

Sugared Cherries

This is a concoction which has been used by the country housewife since the days of the cradle and flail. When there were more hands than had been expected and the pie was short in the buttry, cherry sauce was resorted to.

Use the sour pie cherry for the best results, although the large sweeter varieties are good, too. Wash and pit the fruit. Sprinkle heavily with granulated sugar and let stand an hour or longer on ice to chill. Serve with plain sugar cookies or unsalted crackers and cream cheese and black coffee.

Rhubarb Compote

Four cups diced rhubarb, 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 orange, 1 inch stick cinnamon, 2 whole cloves.

Cut orange into dice without peeling. Remove seeds. Put all the ingredients into a baking dish, cover and bake in a moderate oven until the fruit is tender but not broken. The juice will become a thick syrup. Chill and serve with toasted crackers and cream cheese.

Well creamed cottage cheese is very good with both sugared cherries and

rhubarb compote.

ume, "50 Desserts," send ten cents to

Special Service Bureau, Room 305,

The orange tree is said to be the only one which bears fruit and flowers at the same time.

Peru is the world's largest source of vanadium and is believed to be the only country in which the metal is mined for itself alone.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL

AMENDMENT NO. 19

Referred to the People by the General Assembly in regular session assembled, 1933.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Arkansas and by the Senate of the State of Arkansas, a majority of all members elected to each House agreeing thereto:

That the following is hereby proposed as an Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Senators and Representatives, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election adopt such Amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

That Article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas be amended by adding thereto the following:

SECTION 1. Not less than a majority of the members of each House of the General Assembly may enact a law.

SECTION II. None of the rates for property, excise, privilege or personal taxes, now levied shall be increased by the General Assembly except after the approval of the qualified electors voting thereon at an election, or in case of an emergency, by the votes of three-fourths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.

SECTION III. Excepting monies raised or collected for educational purposes, highway purposes, to pay

Confederate pensions and the just debts of the State, the General Assembly is hereby prohibited from appropriating or expending more than the sum of Two and One-half Million Dollars for all purposes, for any biennial period; provided the limit herein fixed may be exceeded by the votes of three-fourths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.

SECTION IV. In making appropriations for any biennial period, the General Assembly shall first pass the General Appropriation Bill provided for in Section 80 of Article 5 of the Constitution, and no other appropriation bill may be enacted before that shall have been done.

SECTION V. No expense shall be incurred or authorized for either

House except by a bill duly passed by both Houses and approved by the Governor.

The provisions of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in conflict with this Amendment are hereby repealed insofar as they are in conflict herewith, and this Amendment shall be self-executing and shall take and have full effect immediately upon its adoption by the electors of the State.

The above resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Arkansas on the 30th day of January, 1933.

Each elector may vote for, or against, the above proposed Amendment.

Scanning New Books

By BRUCE CATTON

A few years ago, when the ineffable

William B. Shearer sounded off about his exploits at the Geneva naval conference, the people of America got a look at something horrible—the spectacles of armament makers thwarting efforts for world peace, for the sake of dividends.

It all looked like a bad dream, something too dreadful to be true. But now looms George Seligman, with

"Iron, Blood, and Profits," to prove it right up to the hilt—and to show that the situation has been worse than we ever dreamed.

Mr. Seligman passes the great armament makers in review and reveals their record, and the record is a surprisingly ugly one. The arms makers, he says, are the chief force making for war today. They have, in times past, actually created wars.

They know no patriotism, but sell to friends and enemies alike.

In the World War, for instance,

English mines sank English warships in the Dardanelles. English hand-grenades that killed German soldiers were equipped with German-patented fuses—and after the war a German firm collected millions in royalties on them.

German firms sold steel to the French, in wartime, and shells to kill

German soldiers were made of it; the Germans built Zeppelins of aluminum and silk bought from France, in wartime; English warships at Jutland were equipped with range-finders made in Germany six months before.

Those statements are just samples.
